

DEEP.Com Project Number: 511705_LLP-1-2010-1-AT-KA4MP

Running Time: January 2011 to April 2013

Website: www.deepcom.eu

The multilateral DEEP.com project's aim is to breathe new life into forgotten educational projects. The project will be carried out by a large consortium of European players. Business and social consultancies, project agencies and educational institutions from Austria, Germany, Italy, France, Bulgaria, England and the Czech Republic will construct an online platform where the products from educational projects can be successfully advertised and merchandised. Any interested companies, school, trainers or coaches will be able to acquire course concepts, training methods and learning materials on the platform. Additionally, project managers can improve their skills and knowledge of licensing rights and marketing while working with the platform.

A voluminous network is essential in ensuring that this ambitious and meaningful undertaking is successful. If you are interested in supporting the construction of this platform, please contact Jacqueline van Eenennaam: projects@iberika.de
